

The First Argentinian Spring Course in Advanced Immunology (ASCAI 2013) will be held in Los Cocos, north west of Cordoba, November 4-6, 2013.

The course is open to 80 participants: PhD students, early years of post-doctoral fellowship and young scientists engaged in research in basic, applied and clinical Immunology. Students from all Latin America and other developing countries are welcome. Selected participants must submit an abstract and present a poster on their experimental work. A solid knowledge of English is required.

IUIS will offer fellowships of $1,000 US to 4 Latin-American students. The Argentinian Society of Immunology will offer 10 fellowships.

Deadline for registration: March 30th, 2013.

All information can be found on the web page of ASCAI 2013 (<http://www.ascai2013.com.ar/>).