

Day of Immunology - Algeria 2019

We have introduced the celebration of “Day of Immunology” in Algeria since 2017. Our philosophy of developing this day is focused on the empowerment of medical students to actively participate in the popularization of immunology to the general public and to children and their parents through scientific, artistic and social activities. (see some pictures of the 2017 and 2018 edition)

This year we have designed a diverse program containing the following points:

1. Oral presentations by medical students, biologists, paramedics and students from the Graduate School of Teachers. They will address the issue of cancer immunotherapy, the history of immunology, and the immunization of Saharan populations.
2. Immunology learning workshops through art using drawing, music, modeling and drama.
3. Workshops on allergic and autoimmune diseases, scorpionism and antiscorpionic immunotherapy
